

A TOWN'S 225TH BIRTHDAY

WHITE PLAINS, CELEBRATING VAUNTS A RICH HISTORY.

Elly Muldoon conspicuous among 3,000 Paraders and Fifty Decorated Autos—President Roosevelt Sends Congratulations—Relics of the Past on View.

WHITE PLAINS, Nov. 21.—This town, the county seat of Westchester, celebrated its 225th birthday to-day with an automobile, civic and military parade and anniversary exercises in the Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church which were presided over by John J. Brown, the Mayor. President Roosevelt sent his congratulations and the Government took notice of the affair by ordering the post office closed during the afternoon.

Leading the first division of the parade was William Muldoon, former champion wrestler of the United States. On his mounted staff were Sheriff Tom Foley of New York, William Murray, treasurer of the Larchmont Yacht Club, and several other rich men who are leading the simple life at Muldoon's sanitarium. Eugene McGuire, the Tammany leader, who is also with Muldoon, volunteered his services, but he weighs 300 pounds and no horse could be found to carry him. The grand marshal was Merritt H. Smith of the New York Department of Water Supply, who lives in White Plains.

The automobile parade was led by H. T. Dykman, a lawyer and son of the late Jackson O. Dykman, Justice of the Supreme Court, and was made up of about fifty decorated machines. Mr. Dykman's machine was filled with boys in Continental uniforms blowing bugles. Many of the business houses and residences of the town were decorated.

The civic and military parade was made up of the Mount Vernon, Yankees, Flushing and White Plains companies of the Tenth Regiment, Company C of the Seventy-first Regiment under Major John H. Jenkins, the G. A. R. Fiks, Knights of Columbus, Second Ward Civic Club, fire department and school children. About 3,000 took part.

In opening the anniversary exercises which followed the parade, Mayor Brown said:

"The presence of so many people here to-day is due to a patriotic desire to perpetuate the memory of those who fought here one of the historic battles of the American revolution. It is more than a century and a quarter ago since the Continental troops under Washington dragged their cannon up Mount Misery and Chatterton Hill and fired the volleys which a patriot historian has said marked the death wounding that democracy was born and would envelop the world."

"When we consider history we find that 225 years takes us back a long stretch. At the time when the English settlers first came to the town of White Plains, the purchase of the land which subsequently became the town of White Plains was made by a man named Frederick the Great, King of Prussia. This is one of the oldest towns in the United States, and yet it is a vigorous and growing town, increasing in population as fast if not faster than any other village in the State. We are a village in name only, for already we exceed in population nineteen of the cities of the State. I think I am safe in saying that the greatest development is yet to come, when White Plains is made the electric terminal of the New York and Harlem Road and the Bronx Valley Road, and the Bronx Valley Parkway and other improvements now under way are completed."

Arthur Outram Sherman of Rye told of the purchase from the Indians in 1683 of the land which subsequently became the town of White Plains. He said that the town of White Plains was founded by Arthur C. Parker, of Indian blood, being a chief of the Senecas and State Archaeologist, delivered an interesting address on "The Influence of the Indian on the Early Annals of White Plains." The Revolutionary period of White Plains was discussed by Robert F. Farley and County Judge William P. Platt.

One of the interesting features of the celebration was a historical exhibit conducted by the Daughters of the Revolution. Among the articles shown were the medal which Congress gave to Jean Van Wart, one of the captors of Major André; a picture of John Paulding, another captor of André, loaned by Peter Paulding, village clerk; a piece of the charter oak, the dishes used by Washington in his camp at the Battle of White Plains; a table used by Washington, also the registry book kept at his headquarters at White Plains, in which appear 3,800 names, including that of Lafayette. Ernest Hatfield, a Revolutionary descendant of Kensico, loaned the rope with which the Hessians attempted to hang his great grandfather and grandmother during the battle of White Plains, and there was also on exhibition a large collection of Indian and Revolutionary relics, such as British uniforms, rifles, cannon balls and British and Hessian buttons and coins.

CARRIE NATION AFLOAT.

Threatens to Talk Prohibition in Anchor Liner's Smoking Room.

Carrie Nation sailed yesterday for Glasgow in the second cabin of the Anchor liner Corral, accompanied by her niece, Miss Callie Moore. She is going to visit a Scotch temperance advocate, E. Scrimgeour of Dundee, who will welcome her when she lands, and she says she will make a few speeches in Glasgow, Belfast and London on the necessity of prohibition.

She told the reporters who saw her off—and nobody else did—that she was going to enter the smoking room of the Columbia—that is, the second cabin smoking room, as she will have no right in the first—and try to persuade the men not to drink, smoke or gamble.

When Capt. Wadsworth heard that Mrs. Carrie Nation might make trouble on his ship he said with emphasis that it was running the Columbia and that anybody who interfered with the legitimate pleasure of anybody else would be made to behave.

Mrs. Nation said that she had given up the hatchet habit and now used only argument. She was going second cabin because she was a simple, thrifty person of Scotch-Irish ancestry and was not in the habit of putting on airs. She referred to New York as the "accursed city of rum" and said that there was much drunkenness among the Four Hundred. There is little probability of Mrs. Carrie raising a rumpus on the Columbia. She will be permitted to talk but not toorate.

FBI U DINNER ON TUESDAY.

Big Noise Expected in the Waldorf-Astoria on Founders' Day.

A typographical error made THE SUN yesterday that the banquet of the Psi Upsilon fraternity to celebrate its seventy-fifth birthday anniversary would be held at the Waldorf-Astoria next Thursday evening. The dinner will be on Founders' day, Tuesday, November 24, and tickets at $5 each may be obtained from Austin M. Poole, 36 Wall street.

It is expected that more than seven hundred members of the fraternity will be present, representing the chapters in the twenty-two colleges, and from the list of names published a brick thrown at the guest table would have to be directed carefully to the Tenth Avenue, a Governor or a Judge. It promises the largest noise of the dinner season.

BONDS WITH SCANDINAVIA.

The American-Scandinavian Society Formed by Educators.

About thirty Americans and Scandinavians met for lunch yesterday in the yacht room of the Hotel Astor and formed the American-Scandinavian Society "for the furtherance of cultural relations between the nations represented." The luncheon was in honor of Prof. Oscar Montellus of Stockholm, the archaeologist, who is in this country as the guest of Lowell Institute of Boston in accordance with the movement to interchange lecturers between the United States and foreign countries. Prof. Carl Lorentzen of New York University, the originator of the movement as far as America and Scandinavia are concerned; Chancellor McCracken, Prof. Williams Hovgaard, lecturer on naval architecture in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; James Stokes, Robert Erskine Ely and Edward D. Mead of Boston were among those who made informal remarks. The Rev. Frederick Lynch of Pilgrim Church was the toastmaster.

Prof. Hovgaard had a word to say about the great forces which go to make for international peace. Business interdependence, he said, is of these the most potent the leadership of Leif Ericson penetrated even to the shores of America. Then they came as Vikings; in the twentieth century they come to be farmers, and the result is the interchange of college professorships and especially by inviting Scandinavian students to attend the colleges of this country and by sending Americans to the Swedish, Danish and Norwegian universities.

Prof. Montellus drew attention to the fact that history has repeated itself in the migration of the Scandinavian people to the westward. It was in the tenth and eleventh centuries, he said, that Danes and Norwegians invaded the British Isles and the result was the settlement of the Scandinavian people in the United States as there are in Sweden.

President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University is to be the president of the new society. Frederick Lynch vice-president and Carl Lorentzen secretary. Among the honorary vice-presidents are the heads of New York University, Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Minnesota and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and besides these the representatives of the governments of Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Finland at New York and Washington.

BIGGEST APARTMENT HOUSE.

A Full Block on Broadway With Special Accommodations for Children.

The plans for the Belmont Apartments, to be erected on the whole of the Broadway block bounded by Eighty-sixth and Ninety-seventh streets and Amsterdam avenue, were filed yesterday with Building Superintendent Murphy by H. Hobart Weeks, architect for the Belmont Realty Company, the owner, of which Henry R. Hoyt is the president.

The building is to be twelve stories, of the Renaissance type, built of gray limestone for the first two stories and brick with terra cotta trimmings above. It will be 150 feet high, 350 feet long and 200 feet wide, and is to contain 175 suites of apartments, each 50 feet deep and each containing from nine to fourteen rooms, finished in mahogany and other ornate, the main hallways and decorated in the style of Louis XVI.

The main entrance will be at the Eighty-sixth street front, finished with a double driveway leading to the central interior court. This court will be 250 feet long and 100 feet wide and will have large grass plots and fountains and be designed as a playground for children. A special provision has been made in the building. The driveway will be paved with oak blocks to deaden sound.

Six large entrances will open from the court into the main hallways of the building, and each entrance will be equipped with an elevator arranged for the exclusive service of from two to four suites on each floor. It is designed to carry the best of each of the ordinary light shafts and to pour a supply of sunlight into the sleeping rooms, especially those allotted to the use of the style of Louis XVI.

Another novel feature will be a subway court to be built beneath the main court, lighted by skylights and gratings, with the entrance opening on Eighty-sixth street. This is for the special use of tradesmen, who will find facilities for the private delivery of their goods by elevator at the side of each of the main hallways. The roof will contain a fully equipped laundry.

The building is to cost $1,800,000 and the George A. Fuller company has the building contract.

MIGHT COST SOMETHING.

Municipal Art Society Sees a Way the City Could Spend Money.

The Municipal Art Society after consideration of the need of limiting the heights of buildings, especially in the lower part of the city, in order to prevent street congestion has reached the conclusion that the problem to be dealt with is not so much the height of buildings as the facilities for traffic. The society in a communication which has been sent to the Aldermen suggests that relief be obtained by relating to the building line all hydrants, post office boxes, subway approaches and other sidewalk obstructions. It is also suggested that in narrow streets such as Hudson street and Cortlandt the city should purchase or condemn space within the building line to a height of from fifteen to twenty feet so as to provide for covered sidewalks and the doubling of the sidewalk capacity of the streets. It is pointed out also that Broadway in the lower part of the city is of a higher grade than the streets on the river front and that therefore it would be possible to build carways which would not interfere with the subway, between the East and North rivers. A system of elevated footways is also advocated.

Poultry and Cat Shows Coming.

The twentieth annual exhibition by the New York Poultry, Pigeon and Pet Stock Association will be held in Madison Square Garden from Tuesday, December 23, to Saturday, January 2. The entries will close with Secretary H. V. Crawford, Montclair, N. J., on December 11. The Atlantic City Club's Championship Show will have three days, run, from December 18 to 20, and the entries will close on December 18 with Miss D. W. Chapman, West New Brighton, Staten Island.

Trinity to Close St. John's Chapel.

The Trinity Church Corporation has decided to remove the work of St. John's Chapel in Varick street to St. Luke's in Hudson street. For some time the Trinity Corporation has felt that it was no longer justified in continuing the work at St. John's, especially as St. Luke's Chapel has ample accommodation for the few persons who still attend St. John's. The foundation of St. John's was laid on September 8, 1803.

Murder Jury Eleven to One.

After being out since 3 o'clock Friday afternoon the jury in the case of Giuseppe Agnello, who has been on trial before Judge Muldoon in the Tenth Avenue Court for the murder of his wife failed to agree and at 12:30 yesterday was discharged. One man had held up the verdict. Eleven stood for conviction. Agnello was remanded to the Tombs. He will be tried again on the same charge.

ARCHER CAUGHT IN SEATTLE

NEWARK BROKER ACCUSED OF $47,000 FORGERIES.

Hunted Since 1902 as Far as South Africa—Working in Seattle as C. Archie Carter—Woman Disappeared When He Did—Says He Is Innocent.

Word was received in Newark yesterday of the arrest at Seattle, Wash., of Elliot A. Archer, wanted in Newark to answer ten indictments for forgeries. He is charged with defrauding the Manufacturers National Bank and the National Newark Banking Company of $47,000 on bogus receipts for grain shipments. He disappeared from Newark on August 22, 1902, and a search that extended as far as Cape Town, Africa, has been made for him.

Archer is alleged to have conducted his forgeries in much the same manner as the Chicago swindler Van Vliessen—by means of a glass plate and an electric light for tracings. Gen. Joseph W. Plume, president of the Manufacturers bank, is the complainant. Most of the supposed forged notes deposited with the National Newark Banking Company turned out to be genuine, and the Lackawanna Railroad Company, on whose lines the shipments were made, remunerated the bank to the extent of $33,000. It is alleged that Archer had raised the same amount of money at each bank, the total being $39,000.

At both banks Archer and his mother, under the name of A. E. Howe & Co., brokers, had previously transacted hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of business.

At the time of Archer's disappearance Mrs. George E. Garrison of 426 Summer avenue also disappeared. Later she wrote to her husband from Denver that she had been deserted and begged forgiveness. Garrison sent her money and she returned to the East. She disappeared a second time and later was found, as being with Archer on the Pacific Coast.

In September, 1904, Archer quit San Francisco for Cape Town. He was traced to Australia and thence to this country. A little more than a year ago he got a position with the Seattle-Tacoma Power Company at a salary of $125 a month under the name of C. Archie Carter, which he held at the time of his arrest. Archer's capture was due to his meeting a Newarker in Seattle. The Newarker wrote to Gen. Plume, who in turn notified the authorities.

In New York Archer was a member of the North End Club. His wife and two children live at 124 Lincoln avenue, Newark.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 21.—Archer has been living with a woman whom he calls his wife since he came to this city. He was not locked up at the city prison, but was taken direct to the county jail. His arrest followed the receipt of the following telegram from Newark:

"Arrest Elliot A. Archer, employed by the Tacoma Light and Power Company, Seattle. Ten indictments for forgeries aggregating $70,000. Description: 44 years, 5 feet 10 inches, 190 pounds well built, black brown hair, bald on top, brownish blue eyes, wearing a light blue, rapid talker. Our circular sent you November 1904. Bears photograph of Archer, who may not be the same man. He is a 'W. A. Carter,' Captain of Detectives. The circular referred to in the telegram was on file at Police Headquarters and had been there since 1904, during the greater part of which time Archer has been a resident of Seattle."

In a statement to the detectives after his arrest Archer admitted that the picture on the circular at Police Headquarters was his. "I am the man wanted in Newark," he said; "I believe that if I had stayed in Newark at the time I left and had stood trial for the forgeries I was accused of I didn't, and now it will be harder. I am the man wanted, but I am not guilty of any forgery."

HIS LOST LATCHKEY.

When Wehr Got Into His Home at Last He Found Wife Dead Before His Picture.

Mrs. Louisa Wehr, wife of Joseph Wehr of 417 Third avenue, hanged herself on the third floor at that address yesterday after she had placed a photograph of her husband on a chair so that she could see it as she tied a rope around her neck and fastened it to a hook in the wardrobe. The body was found by Mr. Wehr when he came home from work. He was employed at 215 Fifth avenue, said that on Friday he lost his latch key and when he returned home that night he could not get in. He went to another house and stayed there until Saturday morning, and as he could not get in he decided that his wife had gone to visit relatives, so he went to work. When he came home he found the door unlocked and there was something wrong, and with a neighbor he forced the door. A doctor from Bellevue Hospital said that Mrs. Wehr had hanged herself and that she had been suffering from nervousness for several years.

CASUALLY MARRIED NO. 2

And Then Returned to No. 1—No. 2 Has No Difficulty in Escaping.

The marriage of Grace Knowles to George H. Metzgar of 1319 Bristow street was annulled yesterday by Justice Bruce in the Supreme Court because the woman already had a husband, Harry Knowles, when she went through the marriage ceremony with Metzgar.

She was married six days after she had left Knowles, who lives at Coeymans. She went back to Knowles after the marriage and was served with the papers there. Her marriage to Metzgar occurred at Union, N. J., on April 8. The acquaintance between Metzgar and his bride began with a newspaper advertisement, which brought about correspondence. Thirteen days after the wedding the bride left the Bronx home for Coeymans and Knowles, and Metzgar found a note awaiting him when he got home that night, April 21, in which she expressed that she had another husband and signed herself Grace Knowles.

BROOKLYN'S EMERALD BALL.

It Will Be Held in the Waldorf and Not in the Academy of Music.

The Brooklyn Emerald Society will hold its next annual ball in February in the Waldorf-Astoria, which has been the scene of its annual festivities since the burning of the old Academy of Music five years ago. The fact that the cost of holding the ball in the new Academy of Music would be $500 in excess of that in the Waldorf-Astoria, and that the accommodations in the latter were superior caused the society to decide unanimously in favor of again going to Manhattan. The last ball cost $7,114.47 and in accordance with the rule observed since the organization of the society over half a century ago the money was all turned over to the fund for the support of the Catholic orphans.

BETTING CASE APPEAL.

Decision of the Appellate Division to Be Taken On Up.

Assistant District Attorney Elder of Brooklyn yesterday refused to comment on the decision of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in the First District upholding oral betting on the racetracks, but he said an appeal would be taken at once to the Court of Appeals. He expected that the case would be reached and argued in Albany in December.

This Season a Record Demand for Black Lynx Fur and Pony Coats

Second Floor, Broadway.

LEADING trade publication—a conceded authority—says "The demand this Fall for Pony Coats has been enormous, and furriers have been compelled to raise prices in the last two weeks. Black Lynx Fur is to-day the best selling and most popular fur and has taken the place of mink. Good lynx skins have advanced, since the early part of the season, from $12.00 and $15.00 to $32.00 and $35.00."

No doubting that situation in the Fur trade, though it is not reflected in the prices now prevailing here. But when present stocks have dwindled, the outlook is for a big advance. Buy now!
